

Brother Norman Nuton, Jr., is a native of Cambridge, Maryland. He became the Minister of the Central Church of Christ on July 1, 2025.

Brother Nuton has been a member of the church since he was nine years old, influenced by the “unfeigned faith” of his grandmother. At the Cambridge Church of Christ, he was baptized by Brother Derrick Hamlin and received his spiritual foundation under the tutelage of Brother Garrick Cook. Bro Nuton eventually became both the Youth Minister and Assistant Minister at Cambridge.

In 2002, he began working at the Capital Church of Christ, where he was mentored by Brother Douglas Anthony Goodman. With his rich background at Cambridge and Capital, two congregations planted under the leadership of Brother Humphrey Foutz, Brother Nuton is affectionately considered a “grandson of Central.”

In 2010, he became the Senior Minister of the Easton Church of Christ where he labored for six years.

In 2016, he became the Senior Minister of the New Haven Church of Christ in Connecticut. During his 8-year tenure, the congregation experienced significant spiritual development, numerical growth, and he led impactful community outreach efforts.

He and his wife Myra have been happily married since August 3, 2002. They are blessed with four wonderful children: Mya, Mariah, Norman III, and Samuel Queen -- their biological nephew whom they have embraced as a son.

Bro Nuton lives by the scripture, “I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me”, Philippians 4:13, NKJV.
